SouthCorr Opts For CorrChain

Asheboro, North Carolina based SouthCorr Packaging has implemented CTI's CorrChain supply chain automation system. Andre Savoy, Logistics Coordinator for SouthCorr, noted, "In the past, we would receive most of our orders by fax, then enter them into the system by hand. We used to spend a lot of time ensuring that orders were accurate."

All this changed when SouthCorr installed CorrChain. Now orders are received from customers directly into SouthCorr's Sheet Manager System. This level of integration between SouthCorr and its customers saves time because manual entry is eliminated. "Orders now come into the system in real time," said Savoy "and customers have the ability to check on their orders and shipping status through CorrChain."

The installation, done in less than a month, was termed by Savoy as "the best experience of any software or electronics install we've had." Savoy also had strong praise for the people behind the product: "CTI's CorrChain staff has been exceptionally dedicated and helpful. They are committed to keeping the customer happy and getting the job done—that makes all the difference.

"We set high standards at SouthCorr, both for the work we do and for the products and services our suppliers provide us. CTI meets our high expectations and allows us to better serve our customers," he added.
